

Adventures of a Quranic Family

How great would it be if we, as families, could learn at least some of the verses from the Holy Quran and apply them in our daily situations. This would be a big step in helping our children to understand the Holy Book and apply its moral teachings in their lives; exactly what the Quran is meant for. In this series of short stories, meet a Muslim family who try to do exactly that. Follow the adventures of Maryam (3 years), Muhammad (6 years) and Fatima (8 years) as they try their best to learn and apply simple but effective Quranic verses in their daily lives. Enjoy beautiful colour illustrations by an award winning designer, and use the featured tips and games to teach your children about the Quran.
