Pertinent Sayings Success in the practice of cookery, as in any undertaking of life, is the result not only of natural aptitude, but of persevering application. What will be agreeable to the stomach and restorative to the system at five o'clock will be uneatable and indigestible at a quarter past. The Cooks Oracle. The wise woman will have many side-lights in her composition; and in the kitchen her sauces will have many shadings. Above all, study well your sauce; if it fail, disaster is inevitable; if it succeed, place laurel leaves in your hair, for you will have conquered. A woman who has mastered sauces sits on the apex of civilization. The Feast of A utolycus. The poetry of life always has a practical side to it, and most practical affairs rightly worked out are full of poetry. Powell.
